

The global business community has attached great importance to sustainable development more than ever before. Integration of environmental, social and governance (ESG) considerations into the corporate strategies is a megatrend in response to financial market's call for responsible and sustainable investment. Sustainable business practices are critical to the creation of long-term value not only to stakeholders but also to the environment and society at large in an increasingly resource-constrained world.

Starting from 2016, Hong Kong listed companies are required to disclose ESG information on an annual basis in compliance with the ESG Reporting Guide set out in Appendix 27 to the Main Board Listing Rules or Appendix 20 of GEM Listing Rules. Going beyond regulatory requirements, firms actively anticipate and manage the current and future ESG opportunities and risks to prosper in a competitive and dynamic business landscape.
